

EZ Kits to be discontinued

Effective Dec. 9, 2009

The Holland Grill Co. will no longer offer EZ bottom replacement kits for sale. We are out of the EZ kits and do not plan to manufacture any more.

The EZ Bottom replacement kits were developed to offer a reasonably priced repair kit for Holland Grill owners who had grills that had rusted through in the bottom half. The early models of the Classic (BH421SG2), the Classic II (BH421SG3) and the older Heritage (BH421SG5) as well as the older Tradition (BH421SG4) were originally manufactured with steel bottom shells that over time, could experience rust-through. These models were either discontinued or improved several years ago and all are long out of warranty. It is no longer cost-efficient for us to produce these EZ Kits. Likewise, the need for the EZ Bottom repair kit is no longer necessary as all the current grill models are constructed with rust-resistant aluminum bottom shells.

(Note: The “bottom shell” is the bottom half of the grill that houses the burner, drip pan, etc.)

Although we will continue to offer many replacement parts for these grills, bottom shells will NOT be available for the Classic and Classic II grills either as a kit or separately. Consumers will still be able to purchase the bottom shell for the older Heritage and Tradition grill, but not packaged as an EZ Kit. (NOTE: The replacement bottom shell for the older Heritage and Tradition is constructed of aluminum rather than steel.)

If you own either of these grill models and want more information or need help ordering parts, please call our Customer Service department (M-Th 8am-5pm ET; Fridays until 4pm) at 1-800-880-9766.

As always, we appreciate you and thank you for being a loyal Holland-griller.
